CAPSULE SUMMARY

BA-2464

Beverly Manor Coach House

6822 Windsor Mill Road

Baltimore, Baltimore County

1842 ca.

Private

Beverly Manor Coach House, constructed circa 1842, is located at 6822 Windsor Mill Road near the town of Powhattan in the Second District of Baltimore County, Maryland. In 1842 and 1844, Joshua Macken purchased two adjacent tracts of land, historically part of two tracts of land known as "Polly's Delight" and "Well's Manor." The Reid family purchased a parcel of the land in 1854 with additional acreage in 1858, retaining ownership of the property until 1925. The history of the associated Beverly Manor (BA-2463) is intertwined with that of Beverly Manor Coach House, both having been associated with the same owners and parcel of land since their construction in the 19th century. In 1925, when the property was subdivided, the coach house was separated from Beverly Manor, and rehabilitated to serve as a dwelling.

The Beverly Manor Coach House is located to the east of Beverly Manor. The building sits back from Windsor Mill Road along a long, asphalt-paved driveway that leads to a 1991 residential subdivision sited on land originally belonging to Beverly Manor. The coach house has a solid random rubble stone foundation and structural system, and its side gable roof is clad in asphalt shingles. Circa 1855, the two-bay wide coach house was enlarged by the construction of a one-bay square addition to its northwest elevation, making the structure three bays wide. The building fronts southwest and features a one-story, circa 1990 wood frame ell clad in vinyl German siding. The addition sits on a cinderblock foundation and has a gabled roof clad in asphalt shingles. The building was converted into a single dwelling circa 1925, and a one-story, two-bay-wide shed/carport was constructed to the northeast of the coach house at that time.

7. Description

Inventory No. BA-2464

Condition

excellent       deteriorated

 fair               altered

Prepare both a one paragraph summary and a comprehensive description of the resource and its various elements as it exists today.

The Beverly Manor Coach House is a circa 1842 outbuilding located to the east of Beverly Manor (BA-2463). The building sits back from Windsor Mill Road along a long, asphalt-paved driveway that leads to a 1991 residential subdivision sited on land originally belonging to Beverly Manor. The coach house has a solid random rubble stone foundation and structural system, and its side gable roof is clad in asphalt shingles. Circa 1855, the two-bay-wide coach house was enlarged by the construction of a one-bay square addition to its northwest elevation, making the structure three bays wide. The building fronts southwest and features a one-story, circa 1990 wood frame ell clad in vinyl German siding. The addition sits on a cinderblock foundation and has a gabled roof clad in asphalt shingles. The building was converted into a single dwelling circa 1925, and a one-story, two-bay wide shed/carport was constructed to the northeast of the coach house at this time.

EXTERIOR DESCRIPTION

The historic façade, or southwest elevation, is centrally pierced by a sash-and-paneled single-leaf door with a wood surround. A one-bay square wood frame porch with a half-hipped roof supported by square wood posts that sit on a concrete slab shelters the doorway. Two 6/6 vinyl windows with vinyl surrounds and sills pierce the one-and-a-half story wood frame projection on the west side of the southwest elevation of the stone portion of the building. One square, multi-light fixed window pierces the gable peak in the half story of the wood frame projection. Boxed cornice returns flank this window opening. To the south of the entry is a vertical seam in the masonry that differentiates between the two mid-19th century phases of construction. The south end of this elevation features two 6/6 vinyl windows with vinyl surrounds and sills on the one-story stone projection.

The southeast elevation of the stone block is pierced by one six-light fixed vinyl window. The vinyl-sided gable peak of the coach house is pierced by one 6/6 window with a vinyl surround. The southeast elevation of the circa 1990 wood frame addition features a central sash-and-paneled single-leaf door with a vinyl surround flanked by two 6/6 windows with vinyl surrounds and sills.

Two two-light sliding vinyl windows with vinyl surrounds and sills pierce the northeast elevation of the stone coach house. Between these two window openings is a vertical seam in the masonry, indicating the two-phase construction of the 19th century portion of the building. To the east of the seam, the original north corner of the two-bay wide building is joined with large rubble stone quoins. The quoins indicate construction date, while the one-bay square addition is unquoined.

The half story of the outbuilding's northwest elevation is clad in vinyl German siding above the random rubble stone wall of the first story. A rectangular, louvered vinyl ventilator pierces the gable peak.

INTERIOR DESCRIPTION

The interior of the Beverly Manor Coach House was greatly altered by its circa 1925 rehabilitation into a single dwelling. Very little historic fabric remains intact. The current living room encompasses the two-bay-wide portion of the building and features all modern finishes, while the one-bay square section was subdivided into a bedroom, bathroom, and office, all of which are accessible by a short hallway that extends northwest from the living room. The bathroom was completely renovated in the late 20th century. The office features full-height beveled paneling and an acoustical tile ceiling. The bedroom also has an acoustical tile ceiling and full-height beveled board walls. The floor is clad in vinyl tiles, and a quadrant bead serves as the baseboard. All interior window and door casements are square-edged wood. An open winder stair in the east corner of the living room leads to the half story. The outer walls that surround two sides of the stair are clad in beveled vertical board. The original portion of the half story is located over the living room and is finished with lathe and plaster, which obscures the framing members of the circa 1842 section of the building. The attic above the one-bay square section is unfinished and reveals the roof framing, which includes hand-hewn posts, circular-sawn rafters, and machine cut nails.

OUTBUILDING

The circa 1940 shed/carport located to the northeast of the coach house is a one-story, two-bay-wide square wood frame building clad in pressed composition board siding. The rectangular southwest bay of the building is pierced by a flush single-leaf plywood door and one two-light fixed window, both of which have square-edged wood surrounds. The front gable roof clad in asphalt shingles extends over the northeast bay as a shed-roofed carport. A metal-screened wood gate spans the width of the open northeast bay.

Beverly Manor Coach House, constructed circa 1842, is located at 6822 Windsor Mill Road near the town of Powhattan in the Second District of Baltimore County, Maryland. In 1842 and 1844, Joshua Macken purchased two adjacent tracts of land. Historically, the land was part of two tracts of land known as “Polly’s Delight” and “Well’s Manor.” The Reid family purchased a parcel of the land in 1854 and additional acreage in 1858, retaining ownership of the property until 1925.<sup>1</sup> The history of the associated Beverly Manor (BA-2463) is intertwined with that of Beverly Manor Coach House, both having been associated with the same owners and parcel of land since their construction in the 19th century. In 1925, when the property was subdivided, the coach house was separated from Beverly Manor, and rehabilitated to serve as a dwelling.

HISTORY

Although the exact date of construction for Beverly Manor Coach house has not be determined, historic deeds, maps, and architectural elements support a circa 1842 date of construction. The coach house is believed to have been constructed at the same time as the house, with the same indigenous stone. On March 10, 1842, Joshua and Catherine Smith sold one tract of land to Joshua Macken. Two years later, Macken purchased an additional half-acre from Nicholas Smith. Macken is recorded on the 1850 Atlas of Baltimore County as being the occupant of the dwelling. Joshua Smith, from whom Macken purchased part of the property, continued to reside at the neighboring dwelling to the southeast of Beverly Manor. Ten years after its estimated construction, Beverly Manor and the coach house were sold to Paul Rust for $1,050. At this time, the property was part of two larger parcels of land known as “Polly’s Delight” and “Well’s Manor.” “Well’s Manor” was a large tract of land along Windsor Mill Road, then known as Windsor Road, on which the Zimmerman Houses, East and West (BA-2467 and BA-2468) both stand.

On November 8, 1854, Paul Rust sold his property to Kitturah Reid, the wife of Thomas Reid. Kitturah Reid further increased the acreage of the property on July 27, 1858, when she purchased an additional parcel of land from Nicholas and Elizabeth Smith. Kitturah Reid, following her husband’s death, conveyed the property to

Hannah and Anna Louisa Reid on February 28, 1873. Despite the fact that Thomas Reid had died, the 1877 Hopkins Atlas continued to list him as the occupant of Beverly Manor, with his name appearing as Reed. The coach house was not shown on the atlas. The 1877 Atlas also shows the main house as being located just to the west of Powhattan, along Windsor Road, not yet named Windsor Mill Road. The Second District is historically known for its fertile soil, granite quarries, and waterpower from the Patapsco Falls. In 1888, Powhattan was a small village with a population of 300. Located at the terminus of the Baltimore and Powhattan Railway, it was the home of both a Methodist and an Episcopal church, a public school, Powhattan Lodge No. 23, the Independent Order of Mechanics, and Asbestos Grange, No. 172, Patrons of Husbandry.<sup>2</sup> Furthermore, Powhattan was the home of the Powhattan Cotton Mill, which was established in 1809.

On September 3, 1883, Anna Louisa Reid deeded her share of the property to Hannah Reid. Hannah Reid continued to hold the title to Beverly Manor for the following thirty-six years, transferring partial ownership on September 18, 1919 to William and Annie (Anna) L. Read. During Hannah Reid's ownership, the house was altered, resulting in the current Colonial Revival-style appearance. On the 1915 Bromley Atlas, the property continued to be listed as occupied by Thomas Reed. It appears as if the property contained two adjacent dwellings, each with an associated outbuilding to the rear. The easternmost of these two dwellings appears to be Beverly Manor, and the masonry outbuilding to the rear appears to be the coach house. On March 31, 1925, Hannah Reid conveyed the remainder of the property to William Read. In 1925, William Read separated Beverly Manor from its coach house by subdividing the property.

On October 8, 1925, William Read sold Beverly Manor Coach House to C. Frank and Clara Emmart. For the first time, the main house is mentioned in deeds as Beverly Manor. The parcel of land containing the dwelling was recorded in the deed as Lots 2-10, Section C, Plat Number 2 of Beverly Manor, suggesting that surrounding land had been subdivided for development. The Emmarts sold the coach house to Herbert and Daisy Walters on August 15, 1929, who continued to live there until 1951, when it was sold to Wilbur and Jessie Leitch. Shortly after their purchase of Beverly Manor Coach House, the Leitchs sold the property to William and Jajeanne Priest, who resided in the coach house until 1974. On September 29, 1988, William and Martha Borchardt, the current owners, purchased the property. In 1991, the surrounding land was further subdivided by the Borchardts.
