Phase II

Phase III

Research Potential:

The St. Joseph's Manor site (18ST550) represents an 18th-19th century occupation in St. Mary's County. This structure may be the Hopewell house listed on the 1798 Federal tax assessment. The archeological research was avocational in nature and the site is not in immediate danger of complete destruction. If further earth moving activities are to be undertaken at the site, more intensive Phase III work is recommended. This will provide more information on the 18th and 19th century landscape in St. Mary's County.
